

OPEN ACCESS RESOURCES

This is a general guide for open access resources available online. The list includes websites, books, journals, indexes and databases.

Most of the content listed can be freely accessed and referenced.

Art in the Christian Tradition <http://diglib.library.vanderbilt.edu/act-search.pl>

ACT database is a visual image internet resource. The images may be used for research purposes.

Bible Gateway <http://www.biblegateway.com/>

A searchable online Bible (200+ versions, 70 languages). Free to read, research, and reference.

BIBIndex <http://www.biblindex.mom.fr/>

BibIndex is an index of biblical references found in Christian literature (currently: the three first centuries).

Cambridge Digital Library <http://cudl.lib.cam.ac.uk/>

Early printed books and manuscripts. Trinity Hall collection includes volumes on canon law and theology.

Christian Classics Ethereal Library <http://www.ccel.org/>

CCEL is an online source for classic Christian texts, including Early Church Fathers.

CORE: Connecting REpositories <http://core.ac.uk/>

An aggregator of open access research papers from repositories and journals worldwide.

Directory of Open Access Books <http://doabooks.org/>

DOA Books is an online directory that indexes and provides access to academic, peer-reviewed books.

Directory of Open Access Journals <http://doaj.org/>

DOAJ provides access to high-quality, peer-reviewed journals; has a section for philosophy and religion.

Electronic Journals Library: Theology and Religious Studies

<http://rzblx1.uni-regensburg.de/ezeit/fl.phtml?bibid=AAAAA&colors=7&lang=en&notation=B>

A database that offers a fast, structured and unified interface to access full-text articles online.

Haiti Trust <http://www.hathitrust.org>

Haiti Trust offers access to a digitized collection of works from major research institutions and libraries.

Journals for Free: Religion <http://www.journals4free.com/?fq=class:phi&fq=spec:relig>

An older directory of open access journals and journals with limited open access to their materials.

JSTOR Open Access <http://about.jstor.org/oa-and-free/>

JSTOR is a research database with thousands of articles and e-books.

Open Access Digital Theological Library <http://oadtl.org/>

High-quality content in religious studies from repositories, societies, archives, and public domain collections.

Points to the Past <http://pointstothepast.ca/index.html>

A collection of primary sources and digitized historical content (i.e. maps, photos and manuscripts).

Project Gutenberg <http://www.gutenberg.org/>

A library of free eBooks. Main focus on older works for which U.S. copyright has expired.

Stanford Encyclopedia of Philosophy <http://plato.stanford.edu/>

Philosophy and related disciplines, such as Theology. Entries are maintained by experts in the field.

Vatican Library <http://www.vaticanlibrary.va/home.php?ling=eng>

A research library for history, law, philosophy, science and theology. Reproductions of books and photographs can be requested by mail.

Virtual Religion Index <https://virtualreligion.net/vri/>

An online index of websites and online resources. Includes societies, research institutions and journals.